

- Special Event -

When: Mon., Feb. 17 at 7pm

Where: Duke University Center for Documentary Studies, 1317 W. Pettigrew St., Durham, NC 27705

Organizing the South:

How a Southern Workers' Movement Can Change the Nation

RSVP: bit.ly/otsduke

Why did national unions recently call for a southern organizing strategy?

How do the low wages of the South affect the rest of the country?

How can worker organizing lead to more progressive public policies?

Let's talk about labor organizing in the South. Come share your ideas and find out why now is the time to organize the South. Panelists will discuss the recent AFL-CIO's resolution calling for a southern organizing strategy, the region's labor history, current organizing campaigns, and the political influence of the South on the nation.

Fast Food Strike in Durham, 12/5/13

Sponsored by:

Duke CLASS Center, NC State AFL-CIO, Student Action with Farmworkers, LAWCHA

For more information:

Contact the NC State AFL-CIO, 919-833-6678, maybe@aflcionc.org