

JANUARY '16
6PM-8PM

@ THE SMITH
WAREHOUSE (BAY 4) OF
THE FRANKLIN
HUMANITIES CENTER

PIZZA AND DRINKS WILL BE SERVED

TRYING TO GET BY STORIES FROM NC WORKERS

Join us for the premiere of a student-produced documentary exhibit that showcases the real-life stories of North Carolina's workers confronting our low wage service economy. Their powerful testimonies shed light on the daily struggles of the people who serve us the food we eat, clean the homes we live in, and tend to the needs of our aging relatives.

On hand will be North Carolina State Labor Leader, MaryBe McMillian, joined by healthcare workers, fast food workers, administrators, and policy experts at Duke.

Sponsored by the Center for Documentary Studies, the Samuel B. Dubois Cook Center on Social Equity, and the David L. Paletz Innovation Course Enhancement Fund.