

On April 4, 1968, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated in Memphis, where he had gone to stand with sanitation workers demanding their dream: The right to bargain collectively for a voice at work and a better life.

Collective bargaining is the demand of all people—black, white, Latino and Asian American—who would not be pawns of corporate executives and right-wing politicians: The right to join together for our common dreams, a right denied to many in North Carolina since 1959.

Join us to stand in solidarity with working people in every state where a wealthy few wield their power to deny the rights Dr. King gave his life for. It's a time to show movement.
